

University of Plymouth, Schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Biomedical Sciences

Commitment to the UK Athena Swan Principles

In committing to the principles of the Athena Swan Charter, the University of Plymouth's, Schools of Medicine, Dentistry and Biomedical Sciences, have joined a global community with a shared goal of addressing gender inequalities and embedding inclusive cultures.

In joining this community, the University of Plymouth's, ensuring that gender equality work is distributed appropriately and properly rewarded.

- 2 addressing structural inequalities and social injustices that manifest as differential experiences and outcomes for staff and students
- 3 tackling behaviours and cultures

Signature